Ghost Fever Grips the World

by Bob Anderson, Ryan Espin, Peter Natale, and myself (later adding the incredible Joe Ricciardelli to the admin team). The page is a directory for Ghostbusters fan franchises around the world. Our mission is simple: To be a hub for Ghostbusters cosplayers to find their local team (or help launch one for others to find) and to be a resource for anyone to easily contact the group closest to them and understand what they offer.

No longer do Ghostbusters fan franchises need to rely solely on faceless social media empires to get their names and missions out there. With 280+ teams already listed across 20 countries (with more support on the way), there's no better time than now to find or list a franchise on whoyagonnacall.org.

More Than A Movie: The Evolution of Ghostbusters Day

past five years, fans have gathered at New York's iconic Hook & Ladder 8 firehouse, Ghostbusters HQ, to celebrate with an event hosted by the Buffalo Ghostbusters. These fans know that bustin' doesn't just make you feel good—it does good.

"Ghostbusters Day is a celebration of the fandom, a reason for all of us to get together and do what Ghostbusters do best—help others," says Christopher Burns Jr., who highlights the charity-driven core of the event.

The celebration began as a spontaneous idea during a late-night chat session: replace the firehouse's damaged Ghostbusters II sign with a replica. That idea quickly gained momentum.

Brent Hollingsworth recalls launching a GoFundMe while Dan Liberg contacted the firehouse. Soon after, the team reached out to Ghost Corps, who stepped in to donate the Hollywood Collectibles sign. With those funds freed up, the Buffalo team commissioned the full-size sign that now proudly hangs outside Hook & Ladder 8 24/7, a permanent tribute for fans and tourists alike.

Haunted New York

surrounded by talks of the supernatural due to his family's interest. Even the character Gozer was inspired by the Enfield Poltergeist case. So, I teamed up with New York City Ghostbusters member, Dan Hoffman (who also is a paranormal investigator) to help come up with several spots around New York that have ghost stories attached.

Suffolk County Hauntings: Camp Hero – Government Cover-ups and Fourth-Dimensional Creatures? You Bet.

Oh, hey there reader! I'm Bob Anderson from the paranormal podcast, "Bob After Dark." Did you know that the film you're celebrating has its roots in real life paranormal investigation? Since he was a kid, Dan Aykroyd was

Dan Liberg explains how that first success revealed the event's greater potential. "We realized this whole initiative had bigger potential than just a one-off," he says. Thus began an annual tradition, with the firehouse helping to select a new beneficiary each year.

The team, along with ghoulishly great graphics extraordinaire, Eric Christenson, creates exclusive merchandise including shirts, patches, coins, and more to raise funds. "It's not just making an attractive design," Eric explains, "It's making a design with purpose."

The event has drawn support from across the Ghostbusters fandom. ECTO-1NJ and NYC Ghostbusters regularly bring their ECTO vehicles and lead tours. Artist Chris Sorrentino of ReelGhostbusters hands out free prints every year. "The support is tremendous," Liberg says.

The celebration has also welcomed franchise insiders like Eldo Ray Estes, Joe Cirillo, John Rothman, and the Alessi Brothers. One year, even Harold Ramis's wife attended. "She said, 'He would've loved to be here,'" Dan recalls. "And I told her, 'He is... he's here.'"

Ghostbusters Day means different things to different people. For Brent, it's that "late night idea we thought wouldn't go anywhere." For Christopher, it's family: "I get to experience the day raising money for a great cause with 1,500+ friends." For Eric, it's about celebrating the passion and connection within the fandom.

What started as a tribute to a film has evolved into something bigger—a celebration of unity, joy, and giving back. Ghostbusters Day isn't just about remembering a movie. It's about honoring its spirit: that when people come together, they can face anything—even a giant marshmallow man.

Let's set the scene: it's 1942. The U.S. Government decides that Long Island might be a prime target for German U-boats, so what do they do? Build a military base that looks like a sleepy New England fishing town. Painted-on windows, a gym disguised as a church—it's the world's weirdest game of hide-and-seek.

Originally named Fort Hero, after Major General Andrew Hero Jr. (yes, really), the site served as a coastal defense post during WWII. After a brief closure, it reopened during the Cold War for reasons the government would rather not discuss at dinner parties.

But here's where it gets juicy: enter The Montauk Project. Rumors of top-secret experiments, time travel, psychic kids, and a cuddly little fourth-dimensional nightmare creature the locals call "Junior." Sound familiar? It should. This is the real-life inspiration behind Netflix's Stranger Things. Cue the synth music.

Nassau County Hauntings: Theodore Roosevelt's House – The Summer White House Gets Chilly.

In 1880, Teddy Roosevelt—yes, that Roosevelt—bought his uncle's estate and turned it into a glorious 22-room mansion (he added a bonus room in 1905. Power move.) Sagamore Hill would become known as the "Summer White House," and by all accounts, Teddy loved it there.

So much so, some say he never

Visitors to the estate have reported ghostly sightings of Roosevelt himself, especially in his beloved trophy room and office. His favorite rocking chair? It still rocks... without him in it.

Coincidence? Or one Rough Rider who refuses to ride off into the sunset?

NYC Hauntings: Merchant's House Museum – Where the Past Refuses to Check Out.

Built in 1832 by Joseph Brewster and bought just three years later by Seabury Tredwell, this Manhattan townhouse remained in the family for nearly a century. In 1936, it was converted into a museum—and that's when the strange reports began.

Meet Gertrude. Born in an upstairs bedroom in 1840, she lived her entire life in the house and passed away there in 1933. And by all accounts? She's still there. Staff and visitors alike report whispers, footsteps, cold spots, and the distinct feeling of not being alone.

She's the house's last tenant—and not in a hurry to break her lease.

Answering the Call for Hospitalized Kids

Toys, to kids nationwide.

In 2021, the nonprofit Starlight Children's Foundation, with its mission to deliver happiness to hospitalized kids and their families, caught the attention of the Los Angeles Ghostbusters (LAGB). As they learned more about Starlight's work, the LAGB empathized with the challenges hospitalized children face, including battling anxiety, boredom, and pain. They couldn't just stand around — they had to do something.

And that's what they did! They suited up for hospitalized kids, hosting creative fundraisers to deliver Starlight programs, including Ghostbusters-themed Starlight Hospital Gowns and

With these crucial resources, kids received play-based care that helped them feel brave like their favorite heroes, and found comfort to cope and ease anxiety throughout their hospital stay.

Since then, with the support of Ghost Corps and Sony Pictures Entertainment, the LAGB and Ghostbusters fan groups from coast to coast have teamed up to raise over $95,000 for Starlight!

"When a child puts on a Ghostbusters-themed Starlight Hospital Gown, they're not just a patient—they become a hero ready to take on their hospital stay with determination and bravery," said Adam Garone, CEO of Starlight. "Thanks to the incredible generosity of Ghostbuster groups nationwide, these gowns unleash the healing power of play, giving kids a renewed sense of optimism, resilience, and courage."

"Ecto-citing" Hospital Visits

National Reach, Local Impact: Ghostbusters groups have impacted 71 hospitals across 29 states.

Ghostbusters-themed Hospital Gowns: To date, 4,000 gowns have been funded and distributed, featuring two official Ghostbusters-themed designs.

Ghostbusters Toys: Hundreds of kids have received Ghostbusters toys through hospital deliveries and the Starlight Families program.

A "Specter-cular" Impact

Local Ghostbusters groups in screen. In the same way they bring California, Colorado, Florida, Texas, and Indiana engaged with kids at eight children's hospitals, delivering Ghostbusters-themed toys and hospital gowns, along with talent from the films, including actress Mckenna Grace and filmmakers Jason Reitman and Gil Kenan.

"There's a reason why we like cosplay. We want to be the characters we fall in love with on the big us together, they can bring us together to do good. Frankly, that's what makes me so impressed with what Starlight has done, not only in the Ghostbusters universe, but across so many comic books and movie franchises. I really want to encourage you, if you love a film, if you love a character, it's an excuse to do good." - Jason Reitman

Aries (March 21 - April 19)Ghostbuster Role: Lead Investigator

You're charging in with your proton pack blazing, Aries! Your fearless approach makes you the first to volunteer for the toughest paranormal cases. Just be careful not to trap yourself in the ectoplasm—your impulsiveness can lead to a few unexpected ‘hauntings’. You've got the spirit (pun intended), but sometimes it's okay to wait for backup.

Lucky Ghost: Slimer – He's reflects Aries' impulsive energy and fearless appetite for chaos and fun!

Taurus (April 20 - May 20)Ghostbuster Role: Tech Support

Taurus, you've got the steady hand and grounded nature needed to manage the tech that keeps the Ghostbusters running smoothly. You're the one who fine-tunes the proton packs and makes sure the Ghost Trap is always ready. When a ghost messes with the equipment, you'll be the calm one to get it back online.

Lucky Ghost: Muncher – Channels Taurus' energy with his steady determination and unstoppable appetite!

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)Ghostbuster Role: Field Scout

Quick-witted and adaptable, Gemini, you're the one who can switch gears in the blink of an eye. One minute you're tracking a poltergeist, the next you're holding a conference with some spooky spirits. But beware—your restless mind might get distracted by too many ghostly tasks. Keep your focus or risk missing the big one!

Lucky Ghost: Vigo the Carpathian – A bit of a talker, and you can always get him to spill the ectoplasm!

Cancer (June 21 - July 22)Ghostbuster Role: Paranormal Sensitive

You're the empath of the group, Cancer. Your natural intuition and sensitivity make you the one who feels the presence of ghosts before anyone else. You might even be able to communicate with the spirits! But your emotional side can get the best of you—don't let a particularly spooky ghost overwhelm you.

Lucky Ghost: The Library Ghost – She channels Cancer's protective nature and haunting connection to memory and emotion, just like you!

Leo (July 23 - August 22)*Ghostbuster Role: Team Leader

Leo, your charisma and natural leadership make you the head of operations. When the ghost-hunting crew is in a jam, you're the one rallying the troops with a booming voice and a confident smile. Just remember, not every ghost needs to be caught with flair; sometimes it's better to keep things low-key.

Lucky Ghost: Gozer the Gozerian – She embodies Leo's dramatic flair and commanding, powerful presence.

Virgo (August 23 - September 22)Ghostbuster Role: Logistics and Strategy

Virgo, you're the one who plans the perfect ghost-catching operation. You'll study the maps, figure out the best traps, and make sure all the details are covered. While the others are running around in chaos, you'll be calm, cool, and efficient. Just don't overthink the small stuff or you might miss the bigger picture!

Lucky Ghost: The Gatekeeper & Keymaster – You're the one who puts everything into place.

Libra (September 23 - October 22)Ghostbuster Role: Negotiator

When things get tense between the Ghostbusters and a potentially dangerous entity, Libra is your diplomat. Your charming personality and fair-mindedness make you the perfect person to handle spooky negotiations. Just make sure you don't get stuck trying to please every ghost, or you might get possessed!

Lucky Ghost: The Stay Puft Marshmallow Man – You'll sweet-talk your way out of any sticky situation!

Scorpio (October 23 - November 21)Ghostbuster Role: Ghost Hunter Extraordinaire

Scorpio, you thrive in the shadows and are always ready to face the darkest of entities head-on. You've got an intense drive and a deep understanding of the supernatural. But your tendency to get a little too obsessive might mean you go after ghosts that the rest of the crew isn't ready for. Tread carefully—sometimes things aren't as they seem!

Lucky Ghost: Samhain – He captures Scorpio's intense mystery and transformative darkness.

Sagittarius (November 22 - December 21)Ghostbuster Role: Adventurer

You're the one who'll take on the most dangerous cases with a grin and a high-five. You're always ready for the next big adventure, whether it's hunting ghosts in a haunted mansion or battling an otherworldly creature. But watch out—sometimes your enthusiasm can get you into trouble when you rush into unknown territory.

Lucky Ghost: The Terror Dogs – You're ready for whatever challenge they throw at you!

Capricorn (December 22 - January 19)Ghostbuster Role: Financial Backer/Operations Manager

Capricorn, you're the one making sure the Ghostbusters have the funding and resources they need. You've got an eye for the practical side of things, making sure every tool, trap, and piece of gear is in top condition. Just don't get too caught up in the logistics and forget to enjoy the excitement of the ghost chase!

Lucky Ghost: Garraka – Embodying Capricorn's relentless ambition and commanding presence, driven by a cold, ancient purpose.

Aquarius (January 20 - February 18)Ghostbuster Role: Inventor & Innovator

Aquarius, you've got the creativity and technical genius needed to invent the next big ghost-catching gadget. Whether it's a modified proton pack or a new way to trap ectoplasmic energy, you're always thinking outside the box. Just be sure your inventions work in the field—not just in theory!

Lucky Ghost: The Slor – A strange creature that only an inventive mind like yours could control.

Pisces (February 19 - March 20)Ghostbuster Role: Spiritual Guide

Pisces, your connection to the otherworldly makes you the spiritual center of the group. You can sense when a ghost is nearby, and your calming energy helps the team stay grounded when things get eerie. Just remember, you're not the one to deal with the tech or physical traps—you've got a more mystical role to play.

Lucky Ghost: Gertrude Aldridge - She reflects Pisces through her haunting emotional depth and eerie, otherworldly presence.
